SERVICES PROVIDED

Since 1941, the Indianapolis Legal Aid Society has been giving Central Indiana residents of modest means a voice in their own legal matters by providing clients the opportunity to discuss civil legal matters with knowledgeable, highly-qualified attorneys.

Civil legal aid is a combination of services and resources enabling the poor and disadvantaged to effectively navigate the complicated legal system to protect their livelihoods, their health, and their families.

Legal Aid attorneys provide critically needed direct advice and representation on issues such as adoption, paternity, visitation, guardianship, support, custody, divorce, and housing.

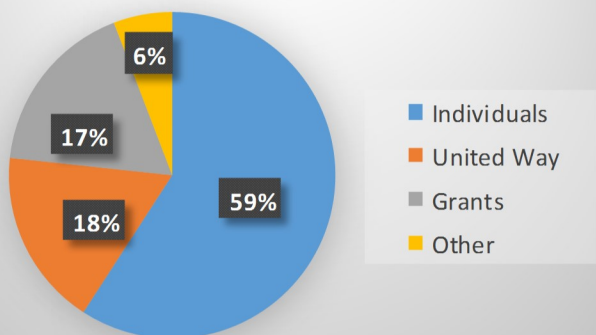

In 2017, 6,094 individuals contacted Legal Aid for assistance. Of those, 4,651 received individualized services, and Legal Aid attorneys made 442 court appearances on behalf of our clients.

The majority of legal issues addressed by the Indianapolis Legal Aid Society involved the interests of women, children, and the elderly.

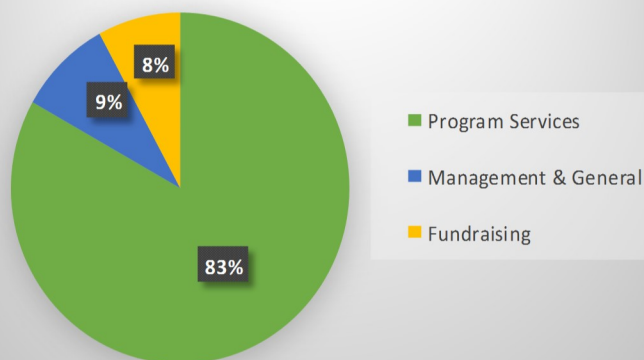

Indianapolis Legal Aid Society differs from all other providers in Central Indiana in that individuals are able to meet immediately with an attorney – typically within two to three business days, and pay no attorney fees.

The Legal Aid Society provides services to individuals and families with incomes of less than 125 percent of the federal poverty guideline levels.
